OPENER

HOST: "Hey, everyone! It's great to see you. All month long we've been talking about one of the most important tools you could ever need in your tool belt. But it's not a screwdriver or a hacksaw or a pair of pliers. It's forgiveness!"

"Forgiveness is up to you! You've got to forgive if you want to fix your relationships and make things right. You've got to forgive your friends and family when they mess up, and THEY'VE got to forgive YOU. With God's help, you can make the choice every day to forgive."

BASIC TRUTH

I should treat others the way
I want to be treated.

"That might sound like hard work . . . and it is! But that doesn't mean it can't be fun. Since forgiveness is one of the very best tools in our tool belt, I think we should have a little tool-themed dance party right here and now. Get excited for the Tool Time Dance Party!"

"While the music plays, keep an eye on the screens. You'll see a series of different tools. When I point to your group, it's your turn to come up with a move that's based on the tool that's on the screen. Your group has to come up with a move and all start doing that move together—in 15 seconds or less! When the rest of us see your awesome move, we'll join in.

"Some of us adults in the room may not be the BEST dancers in the world . . . but I hope you'll forgive us! Let's go!

SFX: High-energy dance music (a different song/beat for each group, if possible)

"All right. First up, we need a dance for a [name of the tool on screen]. Show us what you've got, [Leader's name]'s group!

Give each group 15 seconds (loosely) to come up with a move and start doing it together. If they get stuck, you can demonstrate some ideas for them. If they can't seem to decide on one move, highlight something that one kid is doing and get everyone in the group to do it.

Once the group has their move established, get the rest of the groups to do it too.

Follow the same pattern to give each small group a turn.

"That was incredible! (Comment on some of the wildest moves.) Now that we're all loosened up, stay standing. Let's have some fun worshipping God!"

Worship Leaders enter as Host exits.

WORSHIP

WORSHIP LEADER: "Get on your feet, because it's time to sing! When you come to know Jesus, you experience His forgiveness. There is nothing like the freedom we have in Him. Let's make His praises loud in this place. Come on—here we go!"

WORSHIP LEADER: "When you spend time with God, you get to know Him better. It's the same as any other relationship. If you want to know someone, you have to spend time with them. In Isaiah 30:21, we can read about how God speaks to His people: You will hear your Teacher's voice behind you. You will hear it whether you turn to the right or the left. It will say, "Here is the path I want you to take. So walk on it." (NIRV) Let's sing and tell God that we want to know Him more and more every day."

STORY

SETTING UP THE STORY

STORYTELLER: "Hi, everyone! Today have another awesome example of forgiveness from Jesus. When Jesus was here on Earth, He taught amazing things, which we can read here in the Bible. (Hold up Bible.) He also healed people who were sick. People would follow Jesus everywhere He went, just to see Him and hear what He had to say.

"One time, a great crowd was following Jesus around. So He went up to the side of a mountain and sat down. His disciples came, and He started to teach them.

"Jesus taught about a lot of things that day, and we can find His words in the book of Matthew. (Hold up Bible.) He talked about how important it is for us to fix our relationships with each other. Listen to what He said.

Open the Bible to Matthew 5:23-24 (NIRV) and read.

"Suppose you are offering your gift at the altar. And you remember that your brother or sister has something against you. Leave your gift in front of the altar. First go and make peace with them. Then come back and offer your gift."

"Now, today we don't offer gifts at God's altar. That was what people did in the time before Jesus came. It was kind of like what we do today when we pray or worship God together. But what Jesus said that day is still true for us now. If someone is mad at you—if someone has a problem with you—before you do anything else, go and do what you can to make peace with them. Make it RIGHT with them."

CONTROLLER CONFLICT

STORYTELLER: "Today, that might look like this.

Pause and wait for Host. Look at your watch (or phone).

(A little louder; directed backstage) "I said . . . 'Today, that might look like this.'

(To audience) "Sorry, everyone. I'm supposed to have some help today. [Host's name], are you coming out? [Host's name]?"

Host comes rushing out, holding Box One.

HOST: "Hey, [Storyteller's name]. I thought you were going to say, 'Today, that might look like this.' And then I was supposed to come out."

STORYTELLER: "I did. Twice."

HOST: "Huh! I must have missed it."

STORYTELLER: "Twice."

Host hands the gift to the Storyteller and exits, unfazed.

Storyteller sighs (amused, not annoyed) and sets the box on the table.

"As I was saying, if we look at what Jesus' words mean today, it might look something like this.

Open the box and hold up the video game controller.

"How many of you may have ever gotten into an argument with a sibling or a friend over a video game? Maybe you were SO into the game that you didn't even notice that you were totally hogging the controller. You never gave your friend a turn. And it made them so MAD because it seemed like you did it on purpose! So what do you do when you're in a situation like that? Probably argue about it, until one of you leaves . . . or until your mom or dad comes in to stop the yelling.

"Video games are fun, but FIGHTING over video games is NOT fun. And honestly, are video games so important that they should hurt your relationship with a friend or family member? Of course not!

"Remember, Jesus said that we should make things right with each other BEFORE we go to God. That's how important forgiveness is. It's important that we take the first step to say, 'I'm sorry.' It's also important for us to be quick to forgive."

Set the video game controller back into Box One.

SOCCER SWAGGER

STORYTELLER: "I believe we've got another example in Box Two."

Host enters, looking proud of himself, with the wrong gift box (Box Three).

HOST: "Here you go! I caught the cue that time, didn't I?"

STORYTELLER: (Amused) "Yes, you did. But [Host's name], this is the wrong gift. I need Box Two."

HOST: "Oh, right! Let me grab that."

Host exits with Box Three and then quickly returns with Box Two and sets it on the table.

STORYTELLER: "Okay, back to what I was saying. Let's see if this scenario sounds familiar for any of you."

Open Box Two and hold up the soccer ball.

"You're warming up before a soccer game with your team. You've been practicing really hard, and you've figured out how to kick the ball in the air over and over again—without it ever dropping to the ground. (Demonstrate with the soccer ball.) So you kick it around a few times to show your teammates what you can do. But to them, it kind of seems like you're showing off. Later, you notice that no one is passing you the ball in the game, even though you're wide open."

"What do you do in that situation? Do you get mad at your teammates for acting that way? I mean, it's not like you were TRYING to show off. So do you wait for them to come to their senses and apologize? Or do you decide that YOU should be the one to make it right?"

"You can make the first move. You can say that you're sorry for showing off. You can say that you don't want anything to get in the way of your relationship as teammates. Think about what it would be like for your teammates to hear that from you. If you came to them to apologize, do you think they'd be willing to forgive you? I bet they would!"

Set the soccer ball back into Box Two.

THAT TAKES THE CAKE

STORYTELLER: "Now's when I could use Box Three . . ."

Stop and look around like you're expecting Host to enter.

"I guess [Host's name] couldn't hear me. Well, I'll tell you what was supposed to happen with the last box. There's some confetti inside. Let me tell you why . . ."

(Notice the cake box on the table.) "Actually, this could work, too. I'm not sure why there's a cake here on stage, but it'll help you understand what I was going to say."

Use the cake server to start cutting a piece of cake. Put it on the paper plate.

"You see, when you take a step to say you're sorry and ask for forgiveness, or when you forgive someone who's wronged YOU, you make things right. You fix the relationship. And that feels SO good. You turn something that was a big problem into . . . a celebration!"

Storyteller looks at the audience guiltily.

STORYTELLER: (To Host) "Ummm . . . [Host's name] . . . I don't know how to tell you this . . . but I found your cake. And . . . I'm afraid I ate some of it, too."

HOST: (Surprised, but not angry) "You did? Really?"

STORYTELLER: (To Host) "I did. And I'm really sorry."

HOST: "You know what? It's fine. I promise. My nephew won't mind. (Looking at the cake) It's just missing that one small piece. When I tell him what happened, he'll think it's really funny!"

STORYTELLER: "Wow. That's really nice of you, [Host's name]."

HOST: "Hey, what are friends for? Besides, you didn't get mad at me when I kept missing my cues to bring the boxes out earlier. You told me what happened with the cake, and we're good. I know you didn't mean anything by it."

STORYTELLER: "Well, thanks, [Host's name]. I've got to say, forgiveness feels pretty good."

HOST: "You bet it does, buddy!"

Host opens Box Three and showers Storyteller with confetti.

Host picks up the cake box and exits.

WRAPPING UP THE STORY

STORYTELLER: "It can be really hard for us to see where we've messed up. But we can ask God to show us. Sometimes we can just sort of sense that someone is upset at us, but we don't know why. In those moments, we need to have the courage to take the first step and ask.

"When we find out something that we might have done wrong, we might be tempted to try to defend ourselves. We might think about all the reasons why we were right to act the way we did. But if we really want to make things right with someone, we should take what they say seriously. We should be willing to ask for forgiveness.

"If we have a problem with someone, we should do whatever we can to fix the relationship. We should be willing to say we're sorry—to ask for forgiveness. In the same way, we should be willing to forgive when someone has wronged US.

It was easy to forgive [him/her] for the whole cake thing; after all, we all make mistakes. We all get frustrated with each other and misunderstand things from time to time.
